Instrument Interfacing (One-time charges) are taken

Instrument interfacing of lab instruments is possible. Lab instrument results data will get directly transferred to PathoGoldCloud instantly. There is no manual entering of values. You can edit these transferred values.

Instrument interfacing saves you a lot of time. Also, it saves you from making any typing mistakes completely. Instrument interfacing is a must for NABL Accreditation. Your lab becomes more standardized & well organized.

- Instrument Interfacing charges are taken one time only.
- Instrument Interfacing is done in Unidirectional and Bidirectional way.

Unidirectional Interfacing (UD)

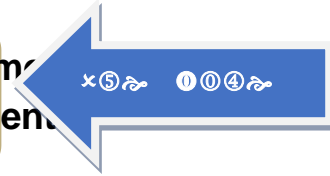

In this case, instrument processes data and sends to software. Later in software we need to manually select data for inserting values.

Bidirectional Interfacing (BD)

In this case, the Software sends a signal to the instrument to process data & instrument sends back processed data to the software. There is no manual process involved anywhere. In BD interfacing, the Instrument reads barcoded vials to process samples.

Instrument Interfacing Cost

INR 15,000 for Unidirectional Interface per instrument
INR 30,000 for Bidirectional Interface per instrument
